

From the Desk of Candia Lea Cole

Marcela Estrada completed a ten hour internship with Eco-Learning Legacies in the summer of 2018. I enlisted her assistance with a graphic design project that involved designing two info-graphics. Info-graphics are generally more challenging to design because they feature a large amount of text and don't leave a lot of space for illustrations. Marcela demonstrated some unique skills that I have not seen used before by my design interns, in particular, the use of eye-catching curves and precise angles. She also applied beautiful colors and images to her designs, which gave them a fresh, contemporary look and feel. I was impressed with her ability to work solo on the designs, without asking too many questions about art direction. My experience of Marcela is that she has a firm grasp on what a project needs artistically, to make the appropriate statement. I wish her the very best in her budding career as a graphic designer.
